Democratic Control] --> D[Civil Military Relations]; B[Janowitz
Citizen Soldier] --> D;

The diagram illustrates the relationship between two early civil-military relations traditions and a central concept. At the top, two red rectangular boxes are positioned side-by-side. The left box contains the text 'Huntington' and 'Democratic Control'. The right box contains the text 'Janowitz' and 'Citizen Soldier'. Two purple lines originate from the bottom center of each of these boxes and converge towards the top center of a third red rectangular box located below them. This third box contains the text 'Civil Military Relations'. The entire diagram is set against a light gray background.
