

Author rights

What are your rights as an author? Find out everything you need to know about how, where and when you can share your article or chapter below.

Jargon buster

Version of article or chapter	Definition
Submitted version under review (SMUR, also known as 'Pre-print')	The version of the work as submitted to the journal, prior to the peer review process.
Author accepted manuscript (AAM, also known as 'Post-print')	The version of the work as accepted for publication. This may include any amendments suggested as a result of the peer review process. This is the version you will receive via email when your article is accepted. You should keep a copy of this for your records.

Emerald's Green open access policy

Our green open access route offers all Emerald journal authors or book chapter authors the option to make their research immediately and openly available upon official publication, free from payment. We are one of only a handful of publishers that does not impose an embargo period.

You may deposit your author accepted manuscript at any point, but it must not be made publicly accessible until official publication (i.e. as soon as it appears on Emerald Insight in its final typeset version).

We allow deposits to the following places:

- Your personal or company website
- On scholarly collaboration networks (SCNs) that have signed up to the STM article sharing principles. A full list of signatories can be seen at www.howcanishareit.com. We do not currently allow sharing on ResearchGate or Academia.edu.

How to deposit your Emerald work

To deposit your author accepted manuscript, you will need to include the following details:

- You must include the DOI back to the official published version of your work on Emerald Insight
- Include all of the relevant citation information (for journal articles: article title, journal name, volume, issue number and for book chapters: chapter title, book title, series name and volume number)
- The author accepted manuscript must clearly indicate where the article was published
- Include a clear licensing statement in the citation information and on the first page of the AAM (see below).

Deposit licenses

As an Emerald author, you have a choice of two licences to deposit your AAM under; you may either include the copyright line of the published work, or deposit under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-commercial 4.0 (CC BY-NC) licence.

The CC BY-NC licence means that anyone may reuse that AAM for non-commercial purposes. If anyone wishes to use that AAM for commercial purposes, they should contact the Permissions team

To display this licence on your AAM, you would include the following

We understand that you may not wish to use the CC BY-NC licence; in this case, you should deposit the author accepted manuscript and the following statement:

'© [insert the copyright line of the published article]. This AAM is provided for your own personal use only. It may not be used for resale, reprinting, systematic distribution, emailing, or for any other commercial purpose without the permission of the publisher'.

All Gold Open Access articles are published under a CC BY Creative Commons licence so articles can be reused freely, as long as full attribution to the author and original publication is included, for example:

Authors of a complete Emerald book

For book authors, the version of the work that may be deposited should be taken from the completed manuscript you submitted to Emerald. It should be the version accepted for publication by the editor, before it is handed over to our production team.

If you are the author of a complete book, on publication of your work, you may deposit any two chapters of your choice from your book (but not t

- Your personal or company website.

The version of the chapters you deposit must be the version accepted by Emerald or the Editor (the AAM), and must not be the published version.

How to deposit your Emerald chapters

To deposit your author accepted manuscript, you will need to include the following details:

- You must include the DOI back to the official published version of your work on Emerald Insight, or the link to the book's page on the Emerald Bookstore
- Include all of the relevant citation information (chapter title, book title, series name and volume number if appropriate)
- The author accepted manuscript must clearly indicate where the chapter was published
- Include a clear licensing statement in the citation information and on the first page of the AAM.

You have a choice of two licences to deposit under.
