I just used the quick submit for the report, but in case you'd like to see the permission of the author of the report, I've included it below.

Good morning Dianna!

This sounds great. The link to the version carried on the Provost's web site is here: <https://gato-docs.its.txstate.edu/jcr:07ee96b5-4e2c-43d4-a33f-daad1b668024/MTCC%20Report%20Final.pdf>

It does not include a copyright or CCBY license of any kind at the moment. When posted in the repository, it can certainly be tagged as CCBY or public domain.

Thanks,
Dana

Hi Dana,

I went looking for a public copy of the MTCC report, to see if it okay to share it widely. I don't see it posted anywhere online.

If it's okay to do so, I think it would be very appropriate to archive it in the Institutional Repository. Our Head of the IR, Laura Waugh, actually had the idea to do so, and it would be a wonderful example of practicing what we preach.

Is that alright?
